For 2017, the fifth installment of Alec Bradley's St. Patrick's Day smoke, the Filthy Hooligan series, is being released as a barber pole. The Alec Bradley Black Market Filthy Hooligan is a 6 x 50 Toro, with only 2000 boxes being created. This year, brand owner Alan Rubin, wanted to create something new and added a candela wrapper mixed in with the dark Jalapa wrapper of the Black Market. The barber pole wrapper encases a unique combination of Ecuadorian Sumatran binder and Honduran and Panamanian fillers. The result is a creative blend that is supposed to add more strength and pop than previous years blends. Alec Bradley compares it to a flavorful Irish stout..
